Learn About Clean, Green Wind Energy at the Stephenson County Fair

August 20, 2007 -- Members of the EcoEnergy team will be at the Stephenson County Fair August 21 – 26 with information about their Stephenson County wind energy project, EcoGrove.

EcoEnergy is part of the Morse Group, which has served electrical, energy and construction clients across North America from its headquarters in Freeport for more than 60 years. The 100-megawatt EcoGrove wind energy facility near Waddams Grove in Stephenson County has 61 permitted sites and will be built as a partnership between EcoEnergy and Acciona Energy, the world's largest wind power developer.

EcoEnergy is bringing its local focus to wind energy development with the EcoGrove project. Through its partnership with Acciona Energy, EcoEnergy is working to establish a wind energy site that will have long-term economic and environmental benefits for our area. EcoEnergy plans long-term involvement in the EcoGrove project and is interested in being a good neighbor now and through the years.

Representatives of EcoEnergy will be in booths #213/313 in the old Commercial Building at the Fair. We'd like to invite you to visit us for more information on wind energy and on our plans for EcoGrove.

If you'd like the chance to speak to our company's president, Shawn Gaffney, please give us 24 hours notice and we will make sure he is available for an interview. You may contact us at the number listed above.

We hope to see you at the Fair – we look forward to speaking with you!
